Holidays of the Week

A
For an unusual family holiday, why not stay in a train? You get to live and sleep in a 1950s railway carriage in a small village in Cornwall in the south west of England. There's a living room, kitchen and two bedrooms. It's only 3 km from the beach and the cycling in the area is fantastic.

B
If music's your thing, then how about a holiday with a difference in Gambia, finding out how to play traditional African musical instruments? The price includes 5-star accommodation in huts built to look like a traditional African village and two hours of lessons per day.

C
Not many people go to Mongolia on holiday, but why visit the seaside like everyone else if you can enjoy this amazing country? You get your own guide and car, can decide where you go and what you do each day. It's certainly not cheap, but it's the experience of a lifetime!

D
A beautiful farmhouse in the quiet French countryside is a very traditional way to take a break, but there's a good reason why it's still so popular – it's brilliant! You can try the local dishes at the many restaurants in the area, there's superb hiking in the nearby hills and you can go swimming in the lakes there
