Dear Hartomo
Thank you for second letter. It is interesting to read about the farming tools used by farmers in our village.
Unlike the farmers in our village, most farmers in our country use machines to help the work. The machines are very useful since most farms are very big. They use tractors to plow the land. Another machine is a seed drill, it makes holes in the ground, then it drops seed into them. It may even drop a small amount of fertilizer with each seed. Farmers with large farms sometimes use planes to plant seed. They also use planes to spray chemical onto the rice fields. When harvest time comes they also use a machine called a combine to cut the rice. It also separates the rice kernels from the stalks. You know that the combine can harvest more grain than 200 people working by land.
Well, that's all for this time. I am looking forward to receiving another letter from you.

Sincerely yours,
Richardo

Subject : My Beautiful September

Dear Lula,

How are you? I'm doing well. Last week, I went to Palembang to visit my sister. You know, she moved there since she got married. I stayed there for only two days, as I couldn't skip school for longer.

It was Sunday morning when I arrived in the capital city of South Sumatra. My sister's husband fetched me from the airport. Then, he drove me to their house which took around thirty minutes by car. It was a nice warm day in September. I was very happy to see my sister after six months apart. We talked and shared everything.

In the afternoon, my sister and her husband took me around the city. We visited Ampera Square, which is near the Ampera Bridge. This is Palembang people's favorite weekend spot, with their families or friends.

I spent the last day by visiting other interesting places in Palembang. I flew back to Jakarta in the evening. It was a memorable visit even though it was short.

Well, that's all I'd like to share with you.
