

GUIDE NOTES: Paleolithic period

As you can see - Over the next minutes -
Secondly - Firstly - Hi everyone - There we go

_____, we are going to talk to you about the Prehistory.

Prehistory is divided into three different periods: the Paleolithic period, the Neolithic period and the Metal ages.

Our team is going to explain to you how Paleolithic human lived:

- _____, let's talk about lifestyle and shelter.

During the Paleolithic period people are nomads, they are constantly moving from one place to another.

_____, they look for refuge in caves.

- _____, we are going to talk about food.

Paleolithic human hunt animals and eat them. They also fish fishes and collect fruits.

what about - As everybody knows - Finally - it comes the moment - Next

- Now, _____ to speak about tools.

During the Paleolithic, humans start using tools made by stones. They use these toolkits to hunt, to fish or even to collect fruits.

- _____, let's see how they make clothes.

Paleolithic humans don't use animals only for feeding, they also use animal skins to get warm. They make their clothes.

- And _____ the art?

When they are successful with the hunting, they paint hunted animals on the rock, inside the caves.

- _____, we want to talk to you about a great discovery of this period.

Many scientists believe that fire is not an invention but a discovery.

_____, the control and manipulation of fire is a turning point for human evolution. They use fire to protect themselves from predators, get warm, cook food.
