

Predicate Nominatives

If a noun is being linked to the subject of a linking verb it is called a predicate nominative.

Example:

Bob is a man.

“man” is a noun

The subject “Bob” is being linked to the noun “man”.

Question 7

Identify the Predicate Nominative in each sentence by rewriting it in the box provided.

- 7.1 The person in the blue car must be Alice.
- 7.2. My favorite musical tool is the hammer.
- 7.3. Have you always been a sports fan?
- 7.4. The football team was the state champion up until the past two years.
- 7.5. She was the captain of the netball team.
- 7.6. In the front yard, the trees are elms and oaks.
- 7.7. What was the answer on the last question?
- 7.8. Our best striker is Eissa.
- 7.9. The winner of the game show was a Dean.
- 7.10. Will the name of the new building in Abu Dhabi be Louvre as well?