Max: Have you seen this story in the newspaper? About the boy who went missing?
David: No. Haven't. What happened?
Max: Well, his class went to take a train. They visited all the museums and then most children went shopping. But this boy went to a walk by the river.
David: Did he get lost on the wrong train?
Max: No. He got on the wrong train by mistake. All the pupils met at the station, but they were a hurry and the teacher was checking the pupils very quickly. He saw a boy in a green jacket and thought it was the boy. So they got on the train. In fact, it was a different boy.
David: So where was the boy?
Max: He was in the wrong train. It was going to London! The teacher realized his mistake and tried to contact the boy's phone, but his phone wasn't working.
David: What happened in the end?
Max: The train together phoned the boy's parents and they came and collected him. Their car was a three-hour journey.
David: What? The teacher probably felt very bad about it.
Max: Yes, my opinion, it was the boy's fault. He got on the wrong train without waiting for the others.
