

Summerhill is a <sup>1</sup> _____ school on the east coast of England. It is the oldest democratic school in the country. There are about ninety-five students, boys and girls, between the ages of five and <sup>2</sup> _____. There are many subjects for students to choose from, but all lessons are optional. The older students help to <sup>3</sup> _____ every term.

Mike, aged seventeen, is a student at the school: I like the school because I don't have to do subjects I don't like. I love sport and at the moment I am playing basketball for hours every day. I want to be a <sup>4</sup> _____ in the future. But I'm also doing some school work. I like reading and literature and I'm writing a <sup>5</sup> _____ for the school play.
