

Send your essay to a member of your group through email, WhatsApp, etc.
My name is _____ and I have _____'s essay

1. Read this person's introduction
 - a. Is it general?
 - b. Does it briefly explain the stance of the reading AND lecture?
 - c. Copy/paste the sentence that shows the lecture/reading have opposite opinions:

2. Body paragraph #1
 - a. Write the transition word they used in the beginning:
 - b. Copy/paste the phrase or sentence that this person used to demonstrate that the reading and the lecture disagree:

 - c. Are there relevant details? Is this person missing anything?
–reading = high taxes prevent people from buying cigs and unhealthy food
–lecture = high taxes cause people to buy low-quality cigs → more harmful AND/OR not enough $ to buy healthy food

3. Body paragraph #2
 - a. Write the transition word they used in the beginning:
 - b. Copy/paste the phrase or sentence that this person used to demonstrate that the reading and the lecture disagree:

 - c. Are there relevant details? Is this person missing anything?
–reading = financial situation is fair b/c only smokers and unhealthy eaters pay
–lecture = unfair financial situation b/c it's a greater burden for lower-income people

4. Body paragraph #3
 - a. Write the transition word they used in the beginning:
 - b. Copy/paste the phrase or sentence that this person used to demonstrate that the reading and the lecture disagree:

 - c. Are there relevant details? Is this person missing anything?
–reading = increase gov't revenue to build parks, public structures, etc.
–lecture = gov't depends on these taxes, so they're unlikely to change policies

5. Grammar/spelling
 - a. Copy and paste their essay into <https://app.grammarly.com/>.
 - b. Look at the top right where it says "overall score". What is their score out of 100?
 - c. When you skim through the suggestions, what seems to be a common error?

6. General feedback
 - a. Tell this person one thing they did well
 - b. Tell this person one thing they can improve next time