

Want/ Need + infinitive.....and spring bucket list activities

A: Hi John. How are you?

B: Hi Tina. I'm good thanks. How about you?

A: I'm good. Are you busy this weekend?

B: No, not really. I need to stop at work to get a paper. Why? Do you want to do something?

A: Yes. I don't need to work this weekend. What do you want to do this weekend?

B: I want to go to some garage sales and I want to go hiking.

A: Oh. What do you want to buy at the garage sales?

B: I need to buy a kitchen table and chairs and I need to buy a bike.

A: Oh. Ok. Garage sales are good places to get deals. We need to go early in the morning on Saturday because the good stuff goes first. OK?

B: Ok. What do you want to do this weekend?

A: I want to have a picnic and I want to go fishing.

B: That sounds fun! OK, so we can go hiking on Sunday and have a picnic for lunch. We can go hiking next to the river and go fishing too.

A: Yes, that's a good idea! We are going to be busy this weekend!

B: Yes we are!! I am looking forward to it!!
