FORM AND USE (DẠNG THỨC VÀ CÁCH DÙNG)

Question tags

We add a question tag to make a statement into a question. We use question tags to check information, and also as a way of helping conversation by asking someone to respond.

She's Henry's sister, isn't she?

You don't like fish, do you?

We form question tags with an auxiliary verb (e.g. are, have, can, will) + a pronoun. We use the auxiliary verb and the pronoun to match the statement.

You're good at maths, aren't you?

He'll like this, won't he?

She didn't finish the exam, did she?

When the statement does not include an auxiliary verb (e.g. the present and past simple), we use do, does, did in the question tag.

She reads a lot, doesn't she?

They played well, didn't they?

If the statement is affirmative, we use a negative tag.
If the statement is negative, we use an affirmative tag.

Helen has got a new bag, hasn't she?

It isn't very interesting, is it?

You didn't like the film, did you?

We can only use personal pronouns or it/there in question tags. We do not use names or other words.
Mary is clever, isn't Mary? isn't she?

That was difficult, wasn't that? wasn't it?

There isn't much food, is there?
