

The Paradox of Our Time (Bob Moorehead - 1995)

We spend _____, but have _____,

We buy _____, but enjoy it _____.

We have bigger houses and smaller families;

_____ conveniences, but _____ time;

We have _____ degrees, but _____ sense;

_____ knowledge, but _____ judgement;

_____ medicine, but _____ wellness.

We have multiplied our possessions, but reduced our values.

We write _____, but learn _____

We plan _____, but accomplish _____.

We build _____ computers to hold _____ information

But have _____ communication.

These are the times of fast foods and slow digestion;

Tall men and short character;

Steep profits and shallow relationships.

These are the times of world peace, but domestic warfare;

_____ leisure, but _____ fun;

_____ kinds of food, but _____ nutrition.

It's a time when there is much in the show window and nothing in the stockroom; a time when technology can bring this letter to you, and a time when you can choose either to share this insight or to just hit delete.
