Reading comprehension: A Cheeky Parrot

John lived by himself. He wanted a pet. He went to the pet shop. There were no cats or dogs. In fact, you cannot buy cats and dogs from pet shops in England. They had hamsters, rabbits and Guinea pigs. He was looking at a big white rabbit when he heard someone say: 'Hello!' He looked around, but there was nobody. He looked up - and he saw a beautiful parrot in a cage. It was red, with blue and yellow wings. He wanted it! It was expensive, but John had plenty of money. He paid for the parrot and its cage. He took it home and let it out of the cage. The parrot did not say thank you. Immediately, it started swearing! John was shocked. It used some really bad language. John asked the parrot to stop with the bad language but it told him to go away (or words to that effect). He decided to put it in the fridge for a few minutes to cool it down and teach it a lesson. As soon as it was in the fridge, it shut up. After five or six minutes, he took it out. 'I am sorry for my bad language' the parrot said. 'I will never use it again. And - may I ask what the chicken did?'
