

WRITING: END MARKS (. / ! / ?)

A sentence may end with a period (.), a question mark (?), or an exclamation point (!). These are called end marks.

Use a period at the end of a sentence that makes a statement.

I like stories about dragons.

Use a question mark at the end of a question.

Why are tigers endangered?

Read the sentences and write the correct punctuation mark

- 1 How many Tasmanian devils were there in 1920
- 2 People are moving into the forest
- 3 Angler fish are very strange
- 4 Do you like elephants
- 5 Mexican walking fish lived in ponds

Look and match.

- 1 exclamation point
- 2 period
- 3 question mark

!

?

.

Put a period, a question mark, or an exclamation point.

- 1 How many chimps were there 100 years ago_____
- 2 Coconut crabs live on islands in the Pacific Ocean_____
- 3 Wow_____ That frog is so amazing_____
- 4 Why are chimps endangered_____
- 5 Look_____ A dragon_____
- 6 They have a population of 100,000_____

Write sentences about the learned animals. Write two sentences using a period, two questions using a question mark, and two sentences with an exclamation.

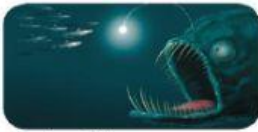

Period:

Question mark:

Exclamation point:

Look at the pictures and write sentences using a period, a question mark, or an exclamation point

1

angler fish

2 tigers

3

Tasmanian devils

1

angler fish

2

tigers

3

Tasmanian devils
