Language Form

1. Conductor : Fifty cents.

   Girl : Oh ! I've lost my purse ! I've no money !

   Lady : Don't worry, I'll pay for you ticket.

   Task : to express gratitude

   (A) Oh, there's no need, actually !
   (B) I simply can't accept that.
   (C) That's so very kind of you. Thank you.
   (D) Oh, no, no ! How can you do that !

2. Aunt : Well, Kala, I hope you enjoyed your holiday with us.

   Task : to express appreciation

   (A) Oh yes, I did !
   (B) Of course, I did ! And I hope you enjoyed my company too.
   (C) Oh yes, I did ! And please come and visit us in Hollywood.
   (D) I've never had such an enjoyable trip. You and Uncle have been so kind to me.

3. Joe : Come on ! Let's go and see whether the robbers are still hiding in that vacant house.

   Task : to express fear

   (A) But what if they see us ? They may murder us !
   (B) You must be joking. It's far too dangerous.
   (C) I am certainly not going to do a fool-hardy thing like that.
   (D) Me ? You can't be serious.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

4. Private detective : You stay here. I'm going to see where they're hiding the stolen goods. If I don't come back in two hours, contact the police headquarters.

Young Lady 1 : But isn't it dangerous ?

Young Lady 2 : You might get killed !

Private detective : It's got to be done. Now, remember my instructions. (He leaves.)

Task : to express admiration

(A) Oh I do hope he will succeed !
(B) How brave he is !
(C) You don't think he'll be caught do you ? Oh, I hope not !
(D) It's so dangerous.

5. Hairdresser : Well, It's done ! How do you like it ? (showing customer her new hairstyle)

Task : to express shock

(A) What have you done to my hair ?
(B) It's not at all like what I expected, really.
(C) You'll have to do it again. I can't have shocking pink hair.
(D) Blue hair ? Are you sure that's the latest craze ?

LIVEWORKSHEETS