

RELATIVE PRONOUNS I

- I. Make one sentence or question from two like in the example.

The boy is my nephew. He is playing with the ball.

The boy who/that is playing with the ball is my nephew.

2. The police caught the criminal. He stole my car.

The police _____

3. The athlete was caught taking drugs. He will be punished.

The athlete _____ punished.

4. The building was hit by an earthquake. It is still standing.

The building _____

5. I saw a woman. Her brother works with me.

I saw the woman _____

6. Somebody called me. He was a salesman.

The person _____

7. A pen was on my desk. Have you seen it?

Have you seen the _____

8. A woman lives next door to me. She has been learning English for 10 years.

The woman _____ 10 years.

- II. Now do the same with the sentences below. If a sentence does not require who/which/that/where etc., leave it out.

We stayed at a hotel. It was a very cheap hotel.

The hotel we stayed at was a very cheap hotel.

2. I work with a few people. You might know them.

I work with a few _____

3. I lent you some money. Have you got it?

Have you got the _____

4. The milk has gone bad. It is still in the fridge.

The milk _____

5. Last night, we went to a restaurant. It serves Italian food.

Last night, we went _____

6. I'm going to visit a town. I was born there.

I'm going to visit the _____

7. Tom is a computer scientist. He has a lot of experience.

Tom _____

8. I sent you an email. Have you received it?

Have you _____

9. You like the girl's dog. Have you heard from her?

Have you heard from the girl _____