Air pollution is a cause of ill. health in human beings. In a lot of countries there are laws limiting the amount of smoke which factories can produce. Although there isn't enuogh information on the effects of smoke in the atmosphere, doctors have proved that air pollution causes lung diseases.

The gases from the exhausts of cars have also increased air pollution in most cities. The lead in petrol produces a poisonous gas which often collects in busy streets surrounded by high buildings. Children who live in areas where there is a lot of lead in the atmosphere can't think as quickly as other children and are clumsy when they use their hands.

There are other long. term effects of pollution. If the gases in the atmosphere continue to increase , the earth's climate may become warmer. A lot of the ice near the Poles ma melt and may cause serious floods.

F) Read the following passage and choose the best answer: (2,5ms)

Every year students in many countries learn English. Some of these students are young children. Others are teenagers. Many are adults. Some learn at school, others study by themselves. A few learn English just by hearing the language in films, on television, in the office or among their friends. But not many are lucky enough to do that. Most people must work hard to learn another language.

Many boys and girls learn English at school because it is one of their subjects. They study their own language, and mathematics… and English. In England, America or Australia, many boys and girls study their own language, which is English and mathematics… and another language, perhaps French or German or Spainish.

Many adults learn English, because it is useful for their work. Teenagers often learn English for their higher studies, because some of their books are in English at the college or university. Other people learn English because they want to read newspapers or magazines in English.

62) According to the writer _____

A. only adults learn English.

B. no children like to learn English.

C. English is useful only for teenagers.

D. English is popular in most of the world.
