REORDERING SENTENCES IN A NARRATIVE

INSTRUCTIONS: Put the sentences in the right order.

- I smiled. I was sure they were going to congratulate me
- He picked up a fork, glared at me and said, "Everyone knows you don't make tomato soup with tomatoes".
- I was standing over a steaming pot of tomato soup I had just made.
- Then I woke up
- I tasted the soup-it was delicious.
- I looked at the oldest man at the table. He looked very angry.
- When I approached the table, I saw that they had ordered my tomato soup.
- I was proud of myself. I had done a really good job.
- All of a sudden, I was if the kitchen of a popular restaurant. Outside, in the dining area, I could hear the soft sounds of people eating and chatting.
- Then a waiter told me some diners at one table wanted to speak to me.
