The following text is for questions 5 and 6.

I am currently at Paradise Garden. This park has such a name because the atmosphere is so calm and comfortable, and the flowers are very beautiful.

One flower that catches my attention is the Angel Trumpet. The flowers are like bells, large and hanging, yellow, and very beautiful. This is the first time I see these awesome flowers.

I immediately approach the tree and examine the flowers. There is one flower that is different from the others. If the others have five petals with pointed tips, this one has only three petals with really sharp pointed tips. So exceptional! This flower is still fresh.

When I peek inside, I see a long pistil with a green tinge. I take its pictures several times. I'm sure, these pictures will be very useful when I need to write a descriptive or report text.

5. What is the text about?
 A. The writer's experience
 B. The comfortable garden
 C. The beautiful yellow flower
 D. The beautiful flower garden
6. From the text we conclude that _____.
 A. the Angel Trumpet flowers come from Heaven
 B. the writer is dreaming that he is in heaven
 C. the writer visits the garden for the first time
 D. the flowers in the garden are blooming beautifully at the moment

The following song lyrics are for questions 10 to 12.

Days, turning from red to green
It's hard to believe that spring
Is here so soon and I've been gone so long

Keep, sending your letters on
Memories of home are still
Haunting my days and I am losing my way

High tide, changing moods
Familiar faces I know
High tide, changing light
Familiar places I'll go

Keep playing out favorite song
Cause sometimes I sing it so loud
I'm praying that you might hear
And sing along

Days turning from sweet to dry
Memories of home are still
Haunting my days and I'll wait for your reply

High tide, changing moods
Familiar faces I know
High tide, changing light
Familiar places I'll go

Indra : Good afternoon, Mom.

Mother : Good afternoon, dear. Hey, why don't you wear your mask?

Indra : It was hard to breathe when cycling with a mask, Mom.

Mother : Gosh! I don't understand why you're so reckless about this pandemic. By wearing a mask, you don't only protect yourself, but also other people.

Indra : I know exactly about that, Mom. I just took it off when I arrived home.

Mother : Fine, I trust you. You understand that you must always wear a mask when going out, don't you?

Indra : I do. I can't endanger myself and others, Mom.

Mother : Good! Now, wash your hands with soap before entering the house. Then, have a shower and soak your clothes immediately.

The following dialog is for questions 16 to 18.

Randy : Look at the butterfly! It's bigger than the others in this park.

Kayla : Are you sure it's a butterfly?

Randy : I am.

Kayla : Well, it's not a butterfly. It's a moth.

Randy : A moth? What's the difference?

Kayla : You see, those butterflies have colorful wings, but this one is brown. A moth has dull-colored wings that always open. Besides, it has a thick and fuzzy coat of scales on its wings.

Randy : You're right. Butterflies have a thin and smooth coat of scales on their wings.

Keep my head up when I act
Head up that's a fact
Never looking back
I'm 'a keep myself on track

Keep my head up staying strong
Always moving on
Feel I don't belong
Tell my thoughts to move along

Push myself to be the best
Die with no regrets
Live with every breath
See my message start to spread

And I had so many dreams
Then you hit your teens
Life ain't really what it seems
Try to find out what it means
