Part 4: Short Passage Questions (每題 5 分)

One of the biggest charities in the UK is Oxfam, which was founded in 1942. Its aim is to ease global poverty and to help the needy, especially those who have been affected by emergency situations, such as natural disasters or war. One of Oxfam's greatest successes has been with its charity stores, where people can drop off unwanted clothes and household items. The stores also collaborate with small suppliers from developing countries to sell their handmade products. Some of Oxfam's most popular stores specialize in just one type of second-hand item, for example books or wedding dresses. The shops are staffed by volunteers and so all of their income is used to benefit Oxfam's mission and relief efforts around the globe. So, if you come across one of Oxfam's 1,200 stores, why not go in and grab yourself a bargain?

- () 26. What is the goal of Oxfam?
(A) To promote global peace and help the poor
(B) To ease global poverty and help the needy
(C) To educate people about environmental protection
(D) To deliver medical supplies to the needy
- () 27. Which of Oxfam's stores are the most popular?
(A) The stores that sell only one specific item (B) The stores that sell household items
(C) The stores that sell handmade products (D) The stores that sell brand new products
- () 28. Which is NOT true about Oxfam?
(A) It is one of the biggest charities in the UK.
(B) It has many charity stores selling second-hand items.
(C) All the workers in the charity stores are volunteers.
(D) Income from the stores is used to help the needy in the UK only.
