Joshua wanted to help a homeless man who was hungry.
Josh started his foundation when he was 11 years old because there was no foundation that let kids help other kids.
They started the charity because there were so many people in need.
The charity expanded very slowly.
Joshua's foundation is run by adults.
The weekend backpack program gives children a backpack full of food so that they have enough food over the weekend.
Joshua's passion and purpose in life is to help those in need.
