A Visit to the Science Museum

Ms. Elliot's class is very excited today. They just found out they are going to visit the Science Museum tomorrow. The museum has all kinds of amazing activities. Ms. Elliot tells her students to visit the museum's web page to see what exhibits they are going to explore.

The students research about some of the most exciting exhibits, the Steam Lab, City Splash, and Eat, Sleep, Play. In the Steam Lab exhibit, they are going to learn how to build robots, create electronic circuits, and use electronic blocks to build things. In the City Splash exhibit, they are going to learn about the environment and the properties of water through fun activities. And in the Eat, Sleep, Play exhibit, they are going to learn about eating and living healthier.

Ms. Elliot tells the students that they are going to meet at school at 8 a.m. to take the bus to the museum. They are only going to take their backpacks with their lunch, a notebook to write notes in, and a camera, tablet, or phone to take pictures. At the museum, they are going to obey every rule the school and the museum have. Everyone agrees because they want to go and have a good time.
