A New Starbucks Every Day

Think about China and you may start to think about its most popular drink, tea. This may start to change, however. Starbucks recently announced its plan to open one new coffee shop in China – one new coffee shop every day, for five years! Starbucks has already opened many coffee shops there, so by 2021 it hopes to have almost 5,000 shops across the country. When Starbucks opened its first coffee shop in China 17 years ago, business was not so good. Since then, more and more Chinese people have begun to drink coffee. Now, most Starbucks customers are American, but soon most of its customers may be Chinese. Will the Starbucks plan be successful? It's difficult to say. Some other American businesses (such as McDonalds and KFC) in China are not doing very well. Also, the Chinese economy is beginning to slow down. However, the CEO of Starbucks is optimistic. He says Starbucks will succeed "if the stores are operated by Starbucks people."
