Hen Friend

When Julie Carver was six years old, she lived on a farm. It was her job to feed the hens every morning before breakfast. There were three hens: Daisy, Maisie and Lazy. Daisy was Julie's favourite.

Every day when Julie came home from school, Daisy ran to the gate, flapping her wings and squawking loudly. One day Julie was feeling ill and couldn't go to school. Daisy sat outside the house all day making the 'koor, koor' sound that hens make when their chicks are young.

When Julie was nine, her father got a new job. The family left the farm and went to live in a flat in town. They couldn't take the hens with them. Julie was sad. The people who bought their farm promised to take good care of the hens, but Julie knew she was going to miss Daisy.

One day Julie's teacher decided to take the class on a picnic. The picnic vas in a park near Julie's old home. Julie was sitting with her friends, enjoying herself. Suddenly, they heard a loud squawking noise. They looked up and saw a hen running towards them, flapping its wings. It was Daisy!
