

Exit Ticket

Decomposition

Computational Thinking

Abstraction

the process of formulating and solving problems by breaking them down into simple steps the process of removing unnecessary details and focus on the important information

The process of breaking down big problems into smaller, more manageable problems