

Rewrite the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first one.

1. Although she has no real problems, she's always complaining

YET

_____ she's always complaining

2. You're sometimes right. On the other hand, you're wrong some other times.

WHILE

_____ you're wrong some other times.

3. She is my friend but I don't really understand her.

EVEN

_____ I don't really understand her.

4. Although her opponents were strong, she won the match.

OF

Despite _____ her opponents, she won the match.

5. The trip was enjoyable even though the weather was bad.

OF

The trip was enjoyable _____

6. I detest having to go to the city centre during the day for work. Nevertheless, it is worth it for the exquisite lunch I get.

AS

_____ go to the city centre during the day for work, it is worth it for the exquisite lunch I get.

7. My sister is very patient. However, I often lose my temper.

WHEREAS

_____ I often lose my temper.

8. Your success was due to hard work. On the other hand, mine was due to good luck.

WHILST

Your success _____ mine was due to good luck.

9. So far, it's proved to be the best house I have come across. It is incredibly expensive though.

THOUGH

So far, it's proved to be the best house _____ expensive.

10. Even though he is young, he has already mastered three foreign languages.

AS

_____, he has already mastered three foreign languages.

11. I attempted to calm myself and rest, but the panic within me grew.

MUCH

_____ myself and rest, the panic within me grew.

12. Although he tries, he will never be top of his class.

AS

_____ does, he will never be top of his class.