Have you ever wondered about where we get our food? All living things require energy to survive. They receive that energy from food. All living things depend on one another for food. Some living things are producers. Producers are living things that make their own food; they do not need to find food. Flowers, trees, and other plants are producers. They get energy from sunlight and use that energy to make their own food. Producers are extremely important. They are the only living things that can create their own food. All other living things depend on them for nourishment. That is why we must take good care of our forests, grasslands, and plants; without them, we could not survive.

Ever since he was six years old, Nick had wanted to get a puppy. His parents always refused. They said he wasn't capable of taking care of a puppy. "You have no idea how much work a puppy is," Dad said. "You would have to housebreak the puppy, train the puppy to obey you, and groom it, too."

"And then there's taking the puppy to the vet, playing with it, and feeding it," Mom added. "It's not that I'm against having a puppy. But a puppy takes up a lot of time."

Nick couldn't think of a way that he could convince his parents that he was ready for a puppy. Then, he got an idea. "If I volunteer at the animal shelter," he thought, "I'll bet Mom and Dad will see that I'm ready to take care of a puppy!"
