

Revising Simple Past

Simple past is normally formed by adding -ed at the end of a verb:

♥ work + ed = worked

♥ cook + ed = cooked

Verbs that already end with an -e at the infinitive only add the -d:

♥ share + d = shared

♥ save + d = saved

Verbs ending in vowel + y adds -ed like normal verbs while the verbs ending in consonant + y turn the -y in i before adding -ed (so y = -ied)

♥ play + ed = played

♥ study + ed = studied

And finally we have irregular verbs, we will see only a few of them in this lesson, to know the other ones I invite you to have a look at 'the horrible list' by Yolanda Giménez Ballesteros, 2010, available for free at <https://en.islcollective.com/english-esl-worksheets/grammar/irregular-verbs/how-learn-horrible-list/5436> on ISLcollective website.

And don't forget to play the Dobble of past verbs! Normally available for free at <https://en.islcollective.com/english-esl-worksheets/grammar/irregular-verbs/dobble-irregular-verbs-game/81860> thanks again to ISLcollective

infinitive	simple past	past participle
be	was (I he she it)/were	been
have	had	had
go	went	gone
meet	met	met
tell	told	told
think	thought	thouht
leave	left	left
stand	stood	stood
can	could	could
shall	should	should
take	took	taken
drive	drove	driven
get	got	gotten
read	read	read
put	put	put

To do the negative form of a verb it is very easy: we just use did as an auxiliary verb avec not (or the contracted form n't+infinitive):

I		study
you		work
he/she/it	didn't	go
we	(or did not)	play
you
they

In the interrogative form did is used before the subject, si the word order is Did + subject + infinitive.

	I	study?
Did	you	work?
	he/she/it	go?
	we	play?
	they

To judge someone worthy or unworthy to be loved (or to become a friend) only looking at his/her physical appeareance is called bodyshaming. Nanowar of Steel are against bodyshaming and, as we see in the video, no serious shaming was intended (we love gargoyles!) but let's do a brain storming about it with the classroom:

2. Why do you think body shaming occurs? Explain your reasoning. Is it a problem in your society? Is it easier for women or men to be fat in your society?
3. Do you think that somebodies physical appeareance makes somebody worthy or unworthy of love? Where do you think that idea comes from?
4. What are parents often critical about in your country?
5. What are friends often critical about in your country?
6. What do you think about the song "And then I noticed that she was a Gargoyle"?

From 15 to 26

It is very difficult for you to recognise your assets and your skills.

Try to spend more time with people that you like. They will probably show you how much they enjoy your company.

And remember...if someone is telling you that you are great...he might be right!

From 27 to 38

Modesty is a skill but don't overdo. A strong desire to improve yourself can be a positive thing but you must believe in yourself and accept the praise and the help of other to succeed.

And yes, you can succeed!

From 38 to 49

You are the ideal team-mate, working with you is a pleasure.

You should believe a bit more in people when they compliment you; to be a reliable person is a skill but you have a lot of others skills too!

From 49 to 60

It is good to feel well in once own body.

You are even able to help people to feel better about themselves. You have a good potential and you can succeed in whatever you like if you want. Go on that way!
