Using Make and Let

Name: _____

Knowing when to use make and let can be really confusing. But we are going to make it easier now!

We use let ONLY when we are talking about permission, when someone allows us to do something.

Ex) My dad let me see a movie with my friends.
Ob.N + V

Since we finished all of our homework, our teacher let us play.
Ob.N + V

We use make in 3 different ways...

1. We use make to say that the 'Subject' forced 'Object' to do something.

Ex) My dad makes me finish all of my homework before dinner.
Ob.N + V

2. We use make to say that the 'Object' did something because of the 'Subject'.

Ex) That sad movie made my mom cry. (My mom *cried because of the movie)
Ob.N + V

3. We use make to say that the 'Subject' caused the 'Object' to be 'Adj'.

Ex) The car accident on the road made us late. (We were *late because of the accident)
Ob.N + Adj.

Look at the sentences and choose let or make to complete the sentence correctly.

1. Since the little boy got 100% score on his test, his mom _____ him play more.
2. My older brother always _____ me clean up because he doesn't want to do it.
3. That funny YouTube video _____ me laugh for ten minutes straight.
4. Doing lots of homework always _____ me feel tired.
5. Even though my dad was angry, he still _____ me watch TV before bedtime.
