

THERE'S A BOY IN THE GIRL'S BATHROOM

You have listened to Matt talking about this wonderful book. Read the following instructions and listen to Matt again before solving the activities.

Pay attention to what Matt thinks and says about himself and choose the best option.

a) Matt read this story for the first time...

- To make this review
- As a kid.
- As an adolescent.

b) The first time he read this story...

- He liked it but didn't fully understand its deep meaning.
- He loved it because it was a complex story.
- He did not like it because it was too superficial.

c) Now this book...

- Is one of his favourites but he won't reread it often.
- Is one of his top favourites.
- Has got into his black list.

d) Mat...

- Was the new kid at school several times but never saw a counselor.
- Has never been the new kid so he never saw a counselor.
- Was the new kid many times and saw lots of counselors.

e) In this review he...

- Will talk about Carla and Bradley's meetings.
- Will talk about Jeff Fishkin.
- Will focus on Bradley.

Now, listen to what Matt says about the story and select the most suitable option to complete the idea.

Bradley is the _____.

He seems proud of his _____.

His classmates _____.

He has to see the school counselor _____.

Jeff Fishkin is _____.

He becomes _____.

He has to see the counselor because _____.

Carla is _____.

She is _____.

Her students _____.

Everything her students say to her _____.

Complete these sentences using the Present perfect form: Use HAVE/HAS or HAVEN'T/HASN'T + the PAST PARTICIPLE form of the verbs.

Matt _____ (read) the book twice.

He _____ (mention) Bradley's parents yet.

This book _____ (become) one of his favourites.

Matt _____ (love) this story since 5th grade.

He _____ (give) any important details so far.

Stop a minute to reflect, put on your thinking caps and complete the following statements.

 I used to think the novel was about _____
_____.

However, Based on what I've read so far I think that this book _____
_____.

Bradley reminds me of _____.

I predict that in the following chapters _____
_____.