

The process of breaking down food into nutrients takes place inside this system.

This system is responsible for transporting nutrients and oxygen around the body.

NUTRITION

The process of inhaling and exhaling air are taken place by this system.

It is responsible for removing unwanted substances from the body.

is carried out by

Digestive System

Excretory System

Circulatory System

Respiratory System