

Grade-3-Lesson-5-Animal Group Worksheet

Choose the correct option

1. _____ animals have a better chance of surviving when living in groups.
 - A. No
 - B. Some
 - C. All
2. Look at these facts about penguins.
Some penguins in the group watch for predators while others care for the young. They can huddle together to stay warm.
Some penguins in the group can hunt for food.
These are all advantages of _____.
 - A. living in cold climates
 - B. having feathers
 - C. having a black and white coat
 - D. penguins living in groups
3. A colony of ants is a _____ that works together to survive.
 - A. Alone
 - B. Group
4. A school, or group, of sardines can form a large circle to protect themselves from
 - A. the environment
 - B. predators
5. Choose the example that does not represent an advantage of animals living in a group.
 - A. A colony of ants builds a network of underground tunnels.
 - B. Owls hunt at night to surprise their prey.
 - C. A pack of wolves works together to hunt for food.
 - D. Prairie dogs alert each other using calls when a predator is near.
6. Some animals, such as wolves and lions, _____ for food in groups.
Hunt
Fight
7. Which of the following statements is not true?
 - A. Elephant herds work together to protect their young from lions and other predators.
 - B. Tigers live together to help keep warm.
 - C. Fish live in schools to make it harder for predators to single out their prey.
 - D. Groups of monkeys help keep each other clean and free of parasites.

8. One advantage for animals living in a group is _____.
- A. there are more animals to watch out for predators.
 - B. shelter is easier to find for a large group of animals.
 - C. the animals in the group need less food.
 - D. animals in a group usually have a different diet than solitary animals.
9. Some animals, like lions and wolves, often _____ for food.
- A. hunt in groups
 - B. hunt on their own
 - C. gather plants