A Sikhs turbans or dastārs signifies many parts of their Sikh faith including spirituality, courage and friendship. See if you can cut and paste the steps below in order - to learn how a Sikh turban is created from a single piece of fabric.

STEP 1

Hold one end of the turban in your mouth. Wrap the turban around the back of your head.

STEP 2

As you come around the left side, wrap the turban low, covering the top part of your ear.

STEP 3

On the right side, go lower on each wrap. On the left side, go higher on each wrap.

STEP 4

As you wrap, a peak will begin to form on the front of your head. Wrap the end around the peak. It will look like the center of a bow, as the end will pinch the peak.

STEP 5

Tuck in the other end. Pull the other end around the back.

STEP 6

Pull it up over the crown of the head, covering the exposed part of the patka. Tuck it under the top folds.
