

Arabs have used camels for more than 2000 years. A good camel can carry about 250 kilos. A good camel can travel very well in hot desert regions. Camels only need water every 3 or 4 days. They store water in their humps. The Arabs are not the only people that have used camels. The Americans have used them, too.

But this was in the past. Today, people keep camels for meat, for milk and for sport. Saudis have raced camels for many generations. The biggest and the most famous camel race is the one near Riyadh every year.
