

The illustration depicts a three-story house with a red tiled roof and yellow walls. The title 'LA CASA DEL 8' is written in black capital letters across the top of the roof. The house has a red base. On the left side, there are two windows on the second floor, each with a red balcony, and a window on the first floor. On the right side, there are two windows on the second floor, each with a red balcony, and a window on the first floor. In the center, there are two windows on the second floor and two windows on the first floor. The ground floor has a central black door and two sets of double doors on either side. Several photographs of children are placed in the windows and on the walls, showing them in various poses and outfits, including soccer jerseys.
