English: Reading about working dogs (4t)

Today, we are going to continue reviewing vocabulary related to people and professions in a reading activity called working dogs.

People do lots of different jobs, but animals can do some jobs better than people. Here are three working dogs. They're all very good at their jobs.

Working DOGS

Josh is a mountain rescue dog. He works with a team of rescue workers in Scotland. Josh has got a very good sense of smell. He uses his nose to find people lost in the mountains.

Lady is a guide dog. Lady's owner, Robert, is blind. He can't see. Lady wears a harness and she guides Robert along the pavements. She stops at roads and steps. She guides Robert around dangerous objects.

Milton is a sheepdog. He works with a sheep farmer. Milton helps the farmer guide sheep from one field to another field. The farmer whistles to communicate with Milton. Milton understands.

Do YOU know...?
There are about 4,500 guide dogs in the UK.
