

Bush Baby Tenants | Backyard Nature

- Hello, I'm Robyn.

- And I'm Adrian and when we're not on location, we live here in South _____'s, Limpopo Province. We're very fortunate that our home backs onto _____ hectors of African Bushveld. So we don't have to go very far to _____. In fact, a lot of the time nature _____. (birds chirping)

- There's one _____ wild family we'd like you to meet. But they're a little bit _____. So Adrian's gonna set up some _____ so that we can introduce them to you.

- [Adrian] They are nocturnal so we'll have to wait for _____ before they'll come out. This is the _____ our office where they live. I hear one coming.

_____ the bush babies. Also, known around these parts as nagapies, which means little night _____. They're insatiably curious little primates and will _____ anything new in their environment, like our _____.

- [Robyn] Those _____ help them see in the dark. But they can't move them so instead, they swivel their _____. The family's just _____. Even though, they normally sleep in tree hollows, we've had _____ of this family as tenants for over a decade. These are probably, related females and their offspring. Like most primates, their day _____ with a bit of grooming.

- [Adrian] They're almost ready to set off to forage. _____, they must check out their surroundings. They are _____ my fist and the African night is full of _____ predators like genets and owls. It looks like it's safe. Just _____.

- [Robyn] These tiny creatures travel a mile or two _____ mostly feeding on insects and tree gum. Scientists estimate they _____ up to 500 trees on their nightly rounds. The most astonishing thing when you first see bush babies _____ is their gobsmacking leaps.

- [Adrian] They can clear gaps up to 16 feet, making them _____ for life in the woodlands _____. And as the little night monkeys go to work the big day monkeys _____.

2. Match the words with their Ukrainian equivalents:

fortunate

set up

introduce

nocturnal

insatiably curious

primates

instead

swivel

hollows

tenants

ВСТАНОВИТИ

жителі

пустоти

замість

щасливі, повезло

нічний

примати

представити,

познайомити

крутити

ненаситно любопитний

3. Match the words with their definitions on the right:

a decade

offspring

set off

forage

predators

tiny creatures

tree gum

estimate

astonishing

gobsmacking leaps

- an animal that hunts, kills
- smth sticky that comes out of a tree
- very small living thing
- a period of ten years
- the young of an animal
- start a journey
- very surprising
- guess the size, cost, etc of smth
- incredible jumps
- go looking for food

4. Complete the gaps with the vocabulary above:

“Look at this _____ !
Let us _____ how much it weighs. Oh... That’s really _____ ! It’s only 500

grams! “

“Well, what does it eat? I know that they are not active during the day, they are _____ . They _____ to _____ for food after the sunset. They are very careful because there are a lot of _____ in the woodlands. But these cute _____ can be quickly far ahead thanks to their _____ ! So, as far as I remember, they look for _____ and insects. “

“I see that you are very _____ to have it as a pet! I’d like to have one _____ of a cat or a dog! I have been dreaming about it for a _____ !”