Great Apartment Living

Mixed-up Sentence Exercise

want to/a furnished/ apartment/ I/ that includes utilities/rent

Gap-fill Exercise

Apartment Owner: Hello.

Caller: Hi. I'm _____ [?] about the ad for the apartment found in today's newspaper.
Apartment Owner: Okay.

Caller: I'm _____ [?] of desperate, and I need something right away.
Apartment Owner: Okay. What would you like to know?

Caller: First of all, how _____ [?] is it?

Apartment Owner: It's a two-bedroom apartment with a living room, _____ [?] room and kitchen, and one bathroom. There's also a place for a washer and dryer.

Caller: Okay, and how _____ [?] is the apartment complex?

Apartment Owner: Well, let's just _____ [?] it has a lot of history. To be honest, my great grandfather _____ [?] it during the 1920s, but it's a very _____ [?] and sound structure.

Caller: Oh, and . . . so, is the apartment _____ [?] at all?
Apartment Owner: Oh, yeah. The apartment is partially furnished with a refrigerator, _____ [?], and my grandmother's old dishwasher.
Caller: Your grandmother's old dishwasher? Okay. What's the rent?
Apartment Owner: It's $950 a month.

[The conversation continues . . .]

LIVEWORKSHEETS