作答方式:
直接將答案按照順序寫於 ANS 旁的空白欄

範例:
ANS: ABCDEFGH

(1)

When treated offensively, a reactive person will be keen to confront or yell back at the other person. Also, he or she can be easily __(1)__. Besides putting them in a bad mood, such situations create a tense __(2)__. Someone with a proactive personality, __(3)__, will contemplate ways to transform negativity into positivity. He or she will even regard __(4)__ as an opportunity for improvement. __(5)__, proactive people focus on how to progress for the future. They do not get __(6)__ or become stuck in the present difficulties.

But this doesn't __(7)__ that everyone is either proactive or reactive. It is not until people __(8)__ a situation that they respond to it. For the things we can control, a proactive approach is always a better option. Instead of being led by circumstances, make conscious choices. The key to being proactive is to be in control, __(9)__ out of it. Thus, don't be influenced by the __(10)__ circumstances around you if you would like to regain control. No one can make the choice for you, and only you can decide who is the master of your life.

(A) enraged (B) by contrast (C) simply put (D) furious (E) encounter (F) atmosphere (G) imply (H) frustration (I) nasty (J) rather than

ANS:

(2)

Safari parks are popular tourist attractions. A safari park is also known __(1)__ a wild-life park. It keeps animals in larger, outdoor __(2)__. The animals are confined __(3)__ fences or trenches, rather than in cages. A safari park is larger than a zoo and smaller than a __(4)__. Safari parks allow visitors to drive through and observe freely __(5)__ animals closely. Sometimes, visitors are able to feed the animals through their car windows. To help animals have the best environments in __(6)__, zoos try to reproduce their natural environments for them.

Both safari parks and city zoos allow you to observe and enjoy __(7)__. The key difference between safari park and zoos is that safari parks allow you to observe animals in surrounding similar to their natural habitats whereas zoos only offer you a view of animals housed within enclosures. In a safari park, the vast majority of animals have __(8)__ more space in their enclosures and share them with other animals. For example, rhinos, giraffes, gazelles, and antelopes share a huge park. The animals at a zoo have smaller enclosures and do not __(9)__ with each other. I'd like to see animals roaming __(10)__ in a big park instead of being bored in a small area in a zoo. That's why I think safari parks are better than zoos.

(A) wildlife (B) roaming (C) about (D) enclosures (E) by (F) reserve (G) captivity (H) much (I) interact (J) as

ANS:

LIVEWORKSHEETS