

Escribe el nombre de las familias y de sus instrumentos, después adivina en el orden en el que suenan los instrumentos de percusión.

The image shows three stylized houses representing different instrument families. The first house on the left is light green with a red roof and contains string instruments: a cello, a violin, a ukulele, and a grand piano. The second house in the middle is light blue with a blue roof and contains wind instruments: a harp, a trumpet, a trombone, a tuba, and a flute. The third house on the right is light yellow with a green roof and contains percussion instruments: a bongo, a maraca, a snare drum, a cymbal, and a timpani. Each house has a blank white box above the roofline for writing the family name.
