Paragraph 1

There are two reasons I love big cities. First of all, big cities are alive 24/7. Going shopping, seeing a movie, exercising at a gym, getting something to eat, or going roller skating at any time of the day or night are things you can do in big cities. Secondly, I like the anonymity in big cities. You can be completely invisible in big cities. No one watches your daily comings and goings. Your neighbors will not bother you as long as you don't bother them. You can stay home all day or stay out all night, and no one cares.

a. In conclusion, I love big cities because you can be independent.
b. In brief, big cities attract me because there are so many things to do.
c. In short, I like big cities because of their energy and anonymity.
