FOTA WILDLIFE PARK

Fota Wildlife Park is an amazing wildlife park in Cork, Ireland. It is on a small island and has about 200,000 square metres of grassland and woods. More than 70 species of exotic animals live on the island. There are cheetahs, giraffes, zebras, kangaroos and many more animals and they have a safe home here. Most of the animals run free in areas like their natural environment. The park is open to the public and people visit it from all over the world.

Visitors can walk around or take a safari jeep tour around the park to see the animals close up.

Many people enjoy watching the wardens feed the animals.

Also, every day, there is a 'cheetah run'. Visitors can watch the cheetahs run for their dinner. This is exciting because cheetahs run very fast – up to 100 kph!

The cheetahs like this activity and it keeps them healthy. Visitors can also listen to interesting wildlife talks at Fota. They can even adopt an animal and children can go to a summer camp there.

Fota Wildlife Park is the perfect place for a 'wild' family day out!

1. Fota Wildlife is in a big city.
2. The park keeps the animals in big cages.
3. The park has visitors from other countries.
4. Most visitors drive through the park.
5. Visitors feed the animals
6. The cheetahs work for their dinner.
7. Children can go on holiday on the park.
