- 1 Look at the picture of a teenager of the future. How is his life different from the lives of teenagers today?

FUTURE TEENS

What sort of life will teenagers have fifty years from now? No one can be sure, but experts have made some interesting predictions.

1 The home

Robots will make the beds, sweep the floor and hang out the washing, so teenagers won't have to do many chores. Parents and teenagers might have a more relaxed relationship because of this. Or will they just find other things to argue about?

2 School

Some people might travel to school, but most people will study on their home computers and have virtual lessons with the world's best teachers. One teacher might have a million students! All the lessons will be in English and everyone around the world will take the same exams.

3 Free time

Teenagers won't go to cafés and cinemas with friends, but they won't be lonely. They'll have fun in a virtual world and go to amazing virtual parties with their favourite stars.

4 Entertainment

The films of today will seem very boring because you can't change the story as you watch. In fifty years, all entertainment will be interactive – there will be no difference between video games and films.

5 Fashion

Teenagers will be fatter than today because they won't do much exercise, so the most popular clothes will be very big and baggy. Global warming will bring changes in fashion, too. There will be air conditioning inside a lot of clothes – a big help in the hot temperatures around the world.

In fifty years, you will be old and grey. What will you think of the teens of the future?

Key Words

relationship	argue
virtual	baggy
global warming	air conditioning
