Hi Maria

I've just arrived at my new university in Chicago. I am studying here for a year as a foreign student. Lots of young people go abroad to study, but it's not easy. When you become a student – in your own country or abroad – the thing that you notice most 1 _____. It was so good before when my mom cooked for me and my dad drove me to school. Life was easy! As a student, I'm now living in a small room in a hall of residence. I have to 2 _____, buy my own food, do the cooking, and the dishes. It's even more difficult when you have to do this in another country. I have had to learn how to buy groceries in English!

At first I felt a bit lonely 3 _____. However I have already met lots of other students and have started making friends. It is even more important to make friends when you are a student living abroad. Friends can help you in problem situations, for example when you don't know how to buy 4 _____.

Yesterday I went to my first lecture. The university is so big and I spent almost half an hour 5 _____. Eventually one of the older students showed me the way.

Tomorrow I'm going to a gig with my new friends to see a band play. My first week at university has been great – let's hope it stays that way!

Bye for now!

Antonia

- a wandering around trying to find the right lecture room
- b since I didn't know anyone
- c is that you're not living at home
- d clean my room
