Bright Future School has many community activities for students. The school believes that a good way for students to develop themselves is through community service. All students can join any of these different projects:

- Tutoring: Upper grade students tutor lower grade students.
- Postcard-to-Help: Students make and sell postcards to raise money for local children.
- Visit-to-Read: Students visit a nursing home monthly and read books to the elderly.
- Garden-to-Give: Students grow vegetables and donate them to local schools.
- Paper-Plant-Exchange: Students collect paper and exchange it for plants. They then look after the plants in their school garden.

Students learn that they can help people and the world around them when they do community service. They feel useful and proud because they do good things.

Dear Nam,

How are things? Did your school have any community activities last summer?

We did some very interesting activities. We collected rubbish in a nearby park. We also planted trees. Then we watered them every day, and it was enjoyable to watch them grow up. We also had a lot of fun and learnt some skills.

Please write to me and tell me about your school activities.

Best,
Tom

- 5 You are Nam. Now write an email of about 70 words to Tom about your school activities last summer. Start your email as shown below.

3 Read the passage and answer the questions by circling A, B, or C.

Choosing to volunteer takes up some of your time. Some people say that they do not have time to help others, so they don't volunteer. But scientists say giving time to help others benefits us.

The first benefit of volunteering is that it helps us learn to be flexible. Volunteers have to be ready for changes and stay flexible when solving problems. Second, volunteering can improve our health because it requires us to be active. A report found that Americans who volunteer 100 hours or more a year are the healthiest people in the country. Third, volunteers have opportunities to develop more relationships. They often work in teams, and team members get to know each other and sometimes even become friends. Moreover, volunteers often help needy people, so they may feel thankful for what they have. For these reasons, volunteers are generally positive and are less likely to become depressed.

So if you have not joined a volunteer activity yet, think about it. You are likely to benefit from doing so.
