

JAGUARS

Jaguars are the third biggest cat. They are smaller than the lion and the tiger.

Jaguars have orange or tan fur with black spots.

They live in rainforests, forests, and grasslands.

They can climb trees.

Jaguars are nocturnal, which means they sleep in the daytime. They hunt at night.

Jaguars are carnivores, which means they eat meat. They eat many animals, like deer, foxes, fish, and snakes.

Jaguars are so big and strong that their only predator is the anaconda. Jaguars live for about 12 to 15 years.
