

Practical vocabulary: Jobs and occupations

Matthew Simons is an industrial engineer who wants to hire / apply for a job in a big company in Austria. He is decided to send his apply / cv to them. He can only work in the mornings, so he prefers a part-time / full/time work, because he has his own bussiness, he is laid-off / self-employed.

Tom: Hello Jerry

Jerry: Hi, Tom. How is it going?

T: Fine, and you?

J: I'm good. I quitted my job last week. This is my first week as a retired / hired person.

T: Oh, really? But you got promoted/ got paid last month, right?

J: Yes, I did. But I think that is better this way. I am happy/ sad now

T: Ok, that's great. Have you sent your resignation letter/ cv

J: Yes! Now I was hired/rejected as a sales manager in ENT, the related to the chemical industry.

T: Do you have to work in the factory/school ?

J: No, I don't I have my own class/office. Some days I work from home/factory

T: That's fantastic! I'm glad for you. Good luck with the new job then!

J: Thank you so much! See you soon
