LESSON 3 MODALS FOR RULES

To talk about rules in a place we can use a variety of modals. Use the modals have to and must to express obligation. Don't have to expresses lack of necessity, while should and shouldn't express advice. Can expresses a possibility and can't a prohibition. Mustn't also expresses a prohibition but it is used in a more formal situation.
