

Conditionals Notes

Student Fill-in

ZERO CONDITIONAL

Form:	IF + _____, + _____
Use:	General or scientific _____ and _____ Example: If you freeze water, it becomes a solid.

FIRST CONDITIONAL

Form:	IF + a _____, will + _____
Use:	_____ or _____ conditions in the _____ or _____ and their results in the _____ and _____.

Examples: If I receive 815 or higher on my TOEIC, I will celebrate with my friends (who also passed).
 If I pass my TOEIC, I won't have to take it again.
 If I am taking my TOEIC in December, then I will have it completed before Christmas.

1. We can also use _____, _____, _____, _____, _____, _____, _____ instead of _____, depending on the meaning.

2. We can also use should + bare infinitive instead of the _____. This suggests that the situation is _____, but _____ to happen.

3. We can also use a form of the first conditional to give instructions about real or likely situations in the present or future. This is IF + a _____, + _____.

4.	Word or Phrase	Meaning	Example
	unless	_____ or if...not	I'll be at class on time unless my train is delayed.
	in case	_____ he/she/it might	Let's take our umbrellas in case it rains.
	as long as / so long as	_____ or _____	As long as I'm happy, my parents don't care what I study at college.
	provided (that)	_____ or _____	Provided (that) I'm happy, my parents don't care what I study at college.

SECOND CONDITIONAL

Form:	IF + _____ or _____, would + _____
Use 1:	_____, _____, or _____ in the present or future and their results in the _____ or _____.
Use 2:	_____

Examples 1: If you didn't wear glasses, you would look exactly like your older sister.
If you were taking the train to school, would you get there any quicker?

Examples 2: (Formal) If I were you, I would study a lot more for Mr. Gipson's exam.
(Informal) If I was you, I'd study more on the weekend.

1. We can also use _____ or _____ instead of would, depending on the meaning.

(Note: _____ [1 word] here often means _____. [4 words])

2. We can also use _____ [1 word] in the IF clause. Here it means was/were _____ (2 words).

THIRD CONDITIONAL

Form:	IF + _____ (simple or cont.), would + have + _____
Use:	_____ in the past and their results in the _____ Example: If you had come this morning, you would have known that the exam had been cancelled.

If she had been wearing her new glasses in class, I would have noticed them.

1. We can also use _____, _____, or _____ instead of would, depending on the meaning.

MIXED CONDITIONALS

Form:	IF + _____ (simple or cont.), would + _____
Use:	Hypothetical _____ and a _____ result

Example: If I had listened to my English teacher, I wouldn't be stressing over this TOEIC exam.

Form:	IF + _____ or _____, would + have + _____
Use:	Hypothetical _____ and a _____ result

Example: If my cell phone was working, I would have called you last night. (= My cell phone isn't working, so I couldn't call you last night.)

FORMAL CONDITIONAL FORMS

Use	Example
1st Conditional with should	_____ the situation worsen, the French military is prepared to send in a peacekeeping force. (= If the situation should worsen...)
2nd Conditional	_____ the situation to worsen, the French military would be prepared to send in a peacekeeping force. (= If the situation were to worsen...)
3rd Conditional	_____ the situation worsened, the French military would have been prepared to send in a peacekeeping force. (= If the situation had worsened...)

In conditional sentences, modals are sometimes followed by a _____.

Example: We'd still be waiting if your bus hadn't showed up.

ENGLISH

with

Mr. Gipson