Listen and complete

Getty Museum Asks Public to Recreate Works of Art

For years, the Getty Museum in has been famous for its large collection of European , and other works of art. Recently, it has become for something else: an art on .

Last week, the Getty asked its followers on , and to remake famous from its collection. "We challenge you to a work of art with objects (and) in your ," the museum wrote.

The were simple: Choose your favorite work of art. Use three things from your to recreate it. Then, take a picture and it on social media.

The public's response came in the , then the , of and funny remakes. And, it has not stopped yet.

LIVEWORKSHEETS