

Read the story and answer the questions that follow.

Science Test

Mike knew that the teacher would be handing back the Science tests today. He really didn't want to go to school, but he knew he wasn't sick and his mother would not let him stay home.

First period of the day was Math. They were learning about fractions. That class went well, but Mike kept looking at the daily schedule and the clock. It was just a matter of time before it was time for Science class and they would be getting the tests back.

After lunch was Science. Mike sat very quietly in his chair when his teacher announced that they were going to begin Science. Then he heard the teacher say something about the test. He wasn't sure he heard correctly so he asked a friend what she said. The teacher had said that she hadn't finished grading the tests yet and they would not be getting them back today. Mike then sat up a little taller and smiled and got his Science book out. He didn't mind Science today after all, but he knew she would have the tests corrected and would be handing them back soon. He didn't want to think about that right now though!

How do you think Mike did on his Science test?

My Inference: _____

How do I know this? What is the text evidence that supports this?

Evidence #1 _____

Evidence #2 _____

Evidence #3 _____