Up a tree

Helen is a member of the volleyball team at school and she likes practising at home, too. Helen's dad put up a volleyball net in their garden, so Helen can play there. One Saturday last year, Helen bought a new volleyball with red and white stripes. She wanted to try it, so she invited Katy to her house to play.

It was very windy when they girls started playing. 'I'm sure that a storm is coming,' Katy said, but Helen didn't mind. She was very pleased with her new ball and didn't want to stop. Then, Katy hit the ball really hard and a strong wind carried it to the top of a tree!

'I'll go and fetch it!' Helen said. She started climbing up the tree and Katy watched from below. The tree was tall, so Katy was worried. 'Be careful, Helen!' she said. Then, when Helen was close to the ball, the wind got very strong. Now, Helen was too afraid to climb down!

Helen's parents weren't home, so Katy called the fire station for help. Half an hour later, a fire engine arrived and a fire fighter carried Helen down. 'You're lucky you didn't fall,' the fire fighter said. Months later, when the autumn came, the ball fell down, but Helen will never climb up that tree again!

Examples

Helen plays on a volleyball team in her school.

There is a volleyball net in Helen's garden.

Questions

- 1 The ball Helen bought last year had on it.
- 2 Katy thought that was on the way.
- 3 Katy hit the ball so that it flew to the top of a tree.
- 4 Katy felt because Helen had to climb very high.
- 5 Katy phoned because Helen's parents were away.
- 6 It took for the fire fighters to get to Helen's house.
- 7 When it was the ball fell from the tree.
